APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP

Friends of Canadian Institutes of Health Research was created to promote the value of health research and establish community-based partnerships. Since 2000, it has specifically supported the goals of the Canadian Institutes of Health Research (CIHR) and has expanded its role to represent all health disciplines. Members are active in universities, hospitals, voluntary organizations, community groups and agencies, as well as health-related corporations.

The objectives of Friends of CIHR are:

- Support the goals and values of Canadian Institutes of Health Research (CIHR)
- Communicate the benefits of Health Research to a broad audience
- Facilitate a sharing of health care and health research knowledge through public forums
- Attract and support health research trainees in their career development

To achieve these goals FCIHR recruits individuals across all health disciplines and beyond.
